

MATRIMONIAL

A Record of Dan Capid's Doings As The Days Go By

THOMAS—CLAY

The marriage of Miss Emily Harvie Thomas, of Augusta, Georgia, and Mrs. Cassius Marcellus Clay, of Paris, was very beautifully solemnized at high noon, Tuesday, at "Cloister Garth," the beautiful home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Landon Thomas, on "The Hill," near Augusta. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Thomas invitations were recalled and the ceremony was witnessed by the family connections only.

The ceremony was performed in the picturesque little tea house in the gardens where hundreds of gorgeous white chrysanthemums were everywhere in evidence, framing in the softly playing fountain with their magnificent beauty, and standing out in bold relief from the shrubbery. The path leading to the tea house was lovely with tea olives, in full bloom, forming a floral aisle to the house, the entrance of which is reached by two stone steps and overarched by two tall Italian sentinel cypresses, which formed a natural altar for the bridal pair. Within the pretty little place was embowered in pure white chrysanthemums and on the steps were placed the white satin cushions on which the young couple knelt. Punaro's Orchestra, stationed at the garden, rendered the wedding music announcing the bridal party, and played "Madrigal" during the ceremony. The entire occasion was characterized by an exquisite, simple elegance and charm. The day was perfect, the noonday sun brilliant, the birds overhead joined in the music of the orchestra and as far as eye could see or ear hear there was a subtle harmony.

The bridal party was led by the maids of honor, Miss Ellen Thomas and Miss Anne Thomas, sisters of the bride, Miss Ellen Thomas wearing turquoise chiffon velvet, and Miss Anne Thomas wearing gold chiffon velvet, both wearing picture hats of the same shade of their gowns, trimmed with drooping sprays of flowers in pastel shades and carried giant white chrysanthemums.

The bride entered with her father, and was lovely in her wedding gown of creamy satin duchesse, made with a full skirt, no sleeves, and low about the neck. A front panel and deep bertha of elegant old family rose point lace and a cluster of orange blossoms about the front panel were the only trimmings. Her train fell from the shoulders and was banded with rose point lace above which was a spray of orange blossoms. The long tulle veil fell from beneath a Watteau cap of rosebud lace. Her flowers were bride roses and valley lilies. Her only jewels was a diamond necklace, the gift of the groom's mother, who had worn it on her wedding day. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. Allen Wilson, of the First Christian church, of Augusta.

Following the wedding ceremony and congratulations a wedding breakfast was served and later Mr. and Mrs. Clay left for a wedding trip. Mrs. Clay having changed her wedding gown for a no less becoming going-away gown of pale tan camels hair, a three-piece suit, a plaited skirt and overblouse worn with a short top coat finished with collar and cuffs of nutria fur, and a hat of brown beaver. After their wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Clay will make their home in New York, where they have handsome apartments.

Mrs. Clay is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Landon Thomas, and is unquestionably one of the most attractive young women of Augusta. Her personal beauty is augmented by a natural charm, a genuine wholesomeness and a gracious manner that is most appealing. It is a matter of general regret to all who knew her in Augusta that her marriage has removed her to New York.

Mr. Clay is the son of Mrs. Clay and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Bourbon county, the latter having enjoyed the distinction of being the last president of the last Constitutional Convention of Kentucky, and one of the best-known men in public life in the State. Mr. Clay is a Yale graduate of the class of 1917 and carried off unusually high honors. In the world war he was a first lieutenant in the State Artillery, and is now a prominent young lawyer in New York City.

For the wedding Mrs. Cassius M. Clay, of Paris, mother of the groom, wore a handsome gown of black thread lace. Mrs. Samuel Stone, of Louisville, sister of Mrs. Clay, wore a black chiffon velvet and Mrs. Frederick A. Wallis, of New York, wore brown chiffon velvet.

GOLAY—SMOOT

The marriage of Mr. Madison Worthington Smoot, formerly of Paris, and Miss Elizabeth Price Golay, of Russellville, took place Wednesday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Golay, in Russellville. The double ring ceremony was used, Dr. P. A. Lyon, president of Logan College, officiating. Only members of the two families were present to witness the ceremony. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Smoot left for an extended honeymoon trip to New Orleans, La., Pensacola, Florida, and other points in the South.

The bride is one of the most cultured and attractive young women of southwestern Kentucky, a graduate of Logan College, at Russellville, and one of the most popular girls in that city. Mr. Smoot is a son of Mrs. Gertrude Smoot, formerly of Paris, and nephew of Mrs. William Remington, of Paris. He is a graduate of the Millersburg Military Institute, and for some time was in the service of the Louisville & Nashville in various positions at this point, filling in succession the positions of night clerk in the Yardmaster's office, assistant ticket agent in the Tenth street passenger station, and in the office of Superintendent J. A. Morrison. He was later transferred to Corbin, and from there to Russellville, where he is now Chief Clerk in the Master Mechanic's office. Each change was in the nature of a promotion.

The following announcement cards have been mailed to friends: "Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Golay announce the marriage of their daughter Elizabeth Price to Mr. Madison Worthington Smoot on Wednesday, the twenty-second of November nineteen hundred and twenty-two Russellville, Kentucky."

DEATHS

Life Is But A Brief Span, A Debt That All Must Pay

ECTON

Former State Senator C. B. Ecton, 78, a Confederate veteran, died in Clark county Monday night. He leaves several sons who are prominent Central Kentucky business men and farmers, a daughter and several grandchildren.

He was State Senator representing Clark, Bourbon and Montgomery counties from 1906 to 1910 and was one of the dry leaders in the Senate. He also sponsored a bill for the increase of the age of consent from fourteen to sixteen years.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. R. L. Bratton, Winchester; four sons, J. J. and H. T. Winchester; Harry, Akron, Ohio, and C. B. Jr., of Bourbon county; by a sister, Mrs. George W. Strother, Winchester; a half brother, James Ecton, Winchester, and a large number of nephews, nieces and grandchildren. His wife died four years ago.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bratton, in Winchester, Rev. U. G. Foote, pastor of the First Methodist church, conducted the services. Burial followed in the Winchester Cemetery.

LOWE

Mrs. Mollie Ann Lowe, aged ninety-five, died at the home of her son-in-law, Charles Hagan, on South Highland street, in Winchester, from the infirmities of age. Mrs. Lowe had been in declining health for several weeks and several days before her death suffered a fall in which she received injuries from which she had not fully recovered.

Mrs. Lowe was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, of the North Middletown vicinity, and was widow of Charlton Lowe of North Middletown, who was a gallant soldier in the Confederate army, and a prominent farmer of his vicinity. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Lowe had been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Hagan, in Winchester. Besides Mrs. Hagan, another daughter, Miss Nannie Lowe, of Winchester, survives.

The funeral was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hagan, with services conducted by Rev. Dr. J. H. MacNeill, pastor of the Winchester Christian church. The interment followed on the family lot in the North Middletown cemetery, where a short service was conducted at the grave by Rev. Frank M. Tindler, pastor of the North Middletown Christian church.

The pall-bearers were: Honorary: J. D. Poynter, Wm. Talbott, J. C. Bryan, Sr., Thomas J. Judy, E. K. Thomas and J. C. Lary; Active: Dr. E. R. Cole, Harry Werner, Thomas Hagan, J. W. Walker, Winston Hart, Marion Hall, Dr. W. B. Triplett and Nelson Walters.

SMITH

Jas. Quincy Smith, aged about ten years, died at the Massie Memorial Hospital, in this city at 2:30 o'clock, yesterday morning, following a short illness of appendicitis, measles and pneumonia. The little fellow is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. A. Smith, of near Paris, three sisters, two brothers, six half-sisters and two half-brothers.

The funeral will be held at two o'clock this (Friday) afternoon, with services conducted at the grave in the Paris Cemetery by Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Paris Christian church.

BIRTHS

To the wife of J. B. Geis, in this city, a fine baby boy.
